FINAL DETAILED ACTIONS

- Amended claims 1-23 have been submitted for examination
- Amended claims 1-23 have been rejected

Drawings

1. In view of the amended drawings filed on 3/13/2006 all objections to the drawings have been withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. In view of the amended claims 4 and 14 filed on 3/13/2006 rejection of claims 4 and 14 has been withdrawn.

Response to Amendment

3. Applicant's arguments see page 11 filed on 3/13/2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The applicant main point of argument as stated on page 11 filed on 3/13/2006 copied below:

"To reiterate a main point of applicants' argument, the Scheuermann reference is completely silent as to turbo decoding".

is not persuasive. The Examiner directs the applicant to two sections in Scheuermann that teach concatenated and convolutional coding that are general forms of Turbo coding.

- a. background of the invention section, lines (24-31) in Scheuermann:

For example, in terms of the channel coding operations that are necessary, existing and emerging wireless standards utilize myriad error mitigation techniques to operate in a hostile channel environment. Existing standards utilize two levels of coding plus block interleaving to address both single error and burst error phenomena. Group codes are used for the outer codes, and convolutional codes are used for the inner codes of the various concatenated coding schemes. No two standards employ the same combination. Additionally, certain standards employ encryption to offer a degree of privacy and security.

b. summary of the invention, lines (55-67) in Scheuermann:

Aspects of a reconfigurable system for providing channel coding in a wireless communication device are described. The aspects include a plurality of computation elements for performing channel coding operations and memory for storing programs to direct each of the plurality of computation elements. A controller controls the plurality of computation elements and stored programs to achieve channel coding operations in accordance with a plurality of wireless communication standards. The plurality of computation elements include a data reordering element, a linear feedback shift register (LFSR) element, a convolutional encoder element, and a Viterbi decoder element.

4. Turbo coding consists of two key design components: parallel concatenated encoding and iterative decoding, see book by Wicker et al. Turbo coding published by Kluwer Academic Publishers, 1999, page 7, lines (9-15). Copy is provided.
5. It is the Examiner's conclusion that independent claims 1,11 and 21 are not patentably distinct or non-obvious over the prior arts of record namely, Scheuermann. Therefore, the rejection is maintained. Based on their dependency on claim 1,11 and 21, claims 2-10,12-20 and 22-23 stand rejected.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
